BIOGRAPHY

Tyshawn Gillespie knew that he would use the name “ROYAL” to define himself as an artist after a conversation with his grandmother. Royal’s grandmother emphasized on being a child of the king and coming from royalty. Feeling regal Royal knew that this was a name that would be true to his being. Coming up Royal was always in love with the sounds of music ranging from hip-hop, rock, r&b and techno music. Growing up in the suburbs yet raised in the city of “Hartford Ct.” allowed him to interact with a wide variety of different cultures. Sharing “Best of both worlds” allowed him to understand and communicate with people from all walks of life. Basketball being his first passion opened the door for his musical creativity; whether it was listening to Jay-z or Anita Baker before a game he found motivation through music. At the age of 19 Royal was taken under the wing of the Paperboyz (PB Dolla ent.), and learned the business aspect of the music industry. Becoming a part of the PB Dolla family is giving Royal the drive and support needed to go forward with his dream and continue to grow as an artist / musician. “Lights, camera, action” being the first official single released under PB Dolla ent.

Early this year has created a buzz that is beginning to take off! The single is being played at local clubs and can be found on I tunes! Royal is working on collaborations with various artists and is continuing to write for his upcoming solo project coming out later this year! Royal is preparing to take the world by storm and on his journey of life through his music. In a recent interview, Royal was asked “What motivates you to do music?” ... Royal replied “To changes people’s lives “... 2011 is just the beginning of the movement!
